IT'S THE BEST CONFERENCE I HAVE EVER ATTENDED, NO DOUBT.

GREAT TALKS AND AN OPEN SPACE WITH INSPIRING PEOPLE.

What is CukenFest?

CukenFest is the physical meeting point for the BDD community in London. Our two-day conference is split between a day of short talks and a day of Open Space. We're deliberately small and have capped attendance to 150 since its inception in 2011. The constraint of size gives speakers, attendees and sponsors the ability to make real connections.

Who are our attendees?

Our attendees know the feeling of working in a team which values collaboration. We attract decision makers in development organisations who are looking for new practices, tools and ideas that will help them build shared understanding between business and IT.

We see a broad range of industries represented ranging from finance and insurance to e-commerce and media.

Why sponsor?

Our working assumption is one right connection or sale will cover your upfront investment. It's important to us you see that return, so we are happy to work together in the build-up to the event to create the conditions which make this inevitable.

CukenFest is all about bridging the gap between business and IT. Our audience is made up of software professionals who care deeply about software quality. Partner with us to:

- Pitch a product or service.
- Find motivated and highly-skilled IT people.
- Associate your brand with our much-loved event.
